

Lewis Brown Heads Kingston Golf Club Directors Elected

Directors Elected. Club Incorporated and Plans Made to Begin Construction of New Golf Club at Meeting Thursday.

The plan to construct a new golf course, on the Treadwell farm, just outside the city limits on the Hurley road, approached a big step when a meeting of those interested was held at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

There was a good attendance at the meeting, including a number of ladies. Directors were named, officers for the first year elected and provision made for the immediate incorporation of the club, which it was unanimously decided should be known as The Kingston Golf Club.

William A. Van Valkenburgh was named temporary chairman of the meeting, with William P. Glass as temporary secretary. Thomas C. Goodman, golf course architect and engineer, who has interested himself in the project, was called upon to present the matter and suggest a course of action.

Mr. Goodman said that as a result of discussions with those who have been most interested in the project and with a view to getting it under way as soon as possible, and taking into consideration the times generally, it had been decided to cut out all unnecessary capital expenditure at this time. With this thought in mind it was thought wise to defer the erection of a club house at this time, utilizing the present farm house and saving some $2,000 in this way. A reduction in the cost of constructing the nine holes contemplated for a start, deferring the building of a considerable amount of fencing and a change in the arrangement for financing the property would make a total saving of some $7,000 over the amount it had been thought necessary to raise for the initial budget.

Incorporated For $30,000. On motion it was decided to incorporate the club for $30,000, the president, two vice presidents, secretary and treasurer to sign the incorporation papers, which are to be prepared by Judge Joseph M. Fowler at once.

It was decided to have a board of directors to consist of 15 members and a committee was elected to make nominations. Following consultation the committee submitted the following nominations:

Directors for one year—Lewis Brown, Pratt Boice, Joseph M. Fowler, John T. R. Hall, William P. Glass.

Two years—Raymond W. Garraghan, William E. Finch, William H. Harnden, Herbert B. Thomas, William A. Van Valkenburgh.

Three years—Henry J. Wieber, Thomas C. Goodman, Dwight T. McKee, William E. Mellert, Alfred D. Ronder.

The nominations were unanimously approved, as was the motion that the president, when elected, should have power to name the standing committee, chairman of which should be members of the board of directors. Standing committees will be as follows: Rules, grounds, house, finance, entertainment, tournaments, membership, publicity, construction.

Mr. Goodman stated that subscriptions were coming in right along and that there were now 112 individual subscribers, with a total of 133 shares of stock subscribed. The club has now a considerable sum in its treasury and more than enough has been pledged to put nine holes of golf into operation. Subscribers were urged to pay in the amount of their subscriptions as soon as possible as it is time to begin work on the course and the plan is to adhere as closely as possible to a "pay as you go" policy.

Mr. Goodman pointed out the adaptability of the property, which is to be taken over at once, to golf purposes, it having a wealth of natural hazards. He thought this latter most desirable as he believes in the elimination, as far as possible, of artificial traps and bunkers and he said that he would endeavor to avoid the necessity for these in constructing the course, taking advantage of the natural lay of the land.

Mr. Gorman Gives Facts In Local Bank Situation

Does Not Owe National Ulster County Bank a Dollar and Has Not Borrowed From It in Two Years—A. E. Rose Has Had No Interest in Firm of Rose & Gorman in Two Years—Statement Certified to by Conservator and Vice-President of Bank.

ROSE & GORMAN

INCORPORATED.
DEPARTMENT STORE
KINGSTON, N. Y.

March 31, 1933.

To the Editor of The Freeman,
Kingston, N. Y.
Dear Sir:

Because of the persistence of certain malicious and untrue rumors concerning the National Ulster County Bank and Trust Company, and the Rose and Gorman Department Store, the undersigned has been used to put the facts before the people of Kingston in a public statement. Here they are:

1. Rose and Gorman or any one connected with the management does not owe the National Ulster County Bank any money, either by mortgage or by note. Rose and Gorman have not borrowed from that bank in nearly two years.
2. Rose and Gorman has discounted its customers' notes to the extent of two thousand five hundred dollars and has a contingent liability for those notes.
3. This contingent liability is offset by a sum more than double the total of these customers' notes which sum now remains to the credit of Rose and Gorman on deposit in the National Ulster County Bank and Trust Company.
4. Mr. A. E. Rose, former president of the bank, has no interest whatever, either in the Rose and Gorman Store, or the Rose and Gorman building. His holdings were paid off more than two years ago.
5. The writer has asked the Conservator of the Bank, and its Vice-President to certify to these facts insofar as they refer to the bank.

Hoping that you will find a prominent space in your paper for the above, I am,

Very truly yours,

V. A. GORMAN.

The records of the National Ulster County Bank and Trust Company show the foregoing is a true statement.

WILLIS G. NASH,
Conservator.

L. F. PORT,
Vice-President.

Mrs. Wood Awarded $2,500 Court Verdict

In the action brought by Anna D. Wood and Edson Wood against Lenora Brown, which has been on trial before Judge Russell and a jury in Supreme Court, the jury on Thursday afternoon brought in a verdict of $2,500 in favor of Anna D. Wood. No cause of action was found in the case of Edson Wood.

The plaintiffs were represented by Brinlier & Elsworth. Andrew J. Cook and Miss Julia Cook appeared for Ireland, Cawsey & Hendrickson, attorneys of record for the defendant.

The action arose from an automobile accident which occurred in Kingston September 15, 1930. Mrs. Wood claimed that as a result of the accident she sustained an impacted fracture of the thigh, which was disclosed when X-ray photographs were taken on March 2, 1932. The defense contended that there was no evidence of fracture following the accident and that there was negligence on the part of the plaintiff.

British Chief Left To Explain Arrests

Moscow, March 31 (AP).—British Ambassador Sir Esmond Ovey was crossing the Russian border today on a trip to London from which he may never return here, at least in his present official capacity.

He is to report to the British government on the arrest of six British subjects here on charges of sabotage in connection with their work on electrical projects. It was said on high authority that it was very likely Sir Esmond is leaving for good.

The Russian foreign office was not represented when virtually the entire Moscow diplomatic corps bade Sir Esmond and his family farewell at the station last night. As the train pulled out all present lifted their hats in a silent gesture.

Treasury Receipts. Washington, March 31 (AP).—Treasury receipts for March 29 were $104,603,677.36; expenditures were $104,392,741.78; net balance $506,948,239.60. Customs receipts for the 29 days were $15,969,567.47.

Work Relief Starts Sewer on Foxhall Avenue Wednesday

Will Place 100 Men on Job and Start Work at Sewer Outlet on Esopus Creek—To Continue Work Until Funds are Exhausted—Sewer and Boulevard Big Jobs of Relief.

Work of constructing the proposed trunk line storm water sewer in Foxhall avenue will be started next Wednesday morning as an emergency work relief project and 100 men will be placed on the job at that time. That was the decision reached by the work relief committee meeting at the old armory Thursday evening. The committee announced that it favored the use of brick in constructing the proposed sewer and will investigate to determine whether or not it will be practical to use brick instead of reinforced concrete. Concrete is recommended by City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan.

At the last meeting of the board of public works the city engineer submitted an exhaustive report on his findings in connection with the construction of the proposed Foxhall avenue sewer, and estimated the construction cost to be $123,692. This estimated cost included labor and the use of reinforced concrete.

Start At Esopus Creek. The emergency work relief committee stated that the work of constructing the sewer would be started at the outlet on the Esopus creek and construction work would be carried on until the committee's funds were exhausted. In order that the sewer work may be completed as far as possible the committee decided to devote all of the time to but two projects, the Foxhall avenue sewer and the completion of the Boulevard construction.

30 Men on Boulevard. At present 30 men are at work on the Boulevard project. This force may be increased later. A new road is being built at the Bower property, part of which was acquired by the city for the sum of $9,750. The land acquired was for the purpose of straightening out the road and eliminating the bad curve at that point.

The emergency work relief committee is expected to announce its decision shortly as to whether brick or concrete will be used in constructing the sewer. If concrete is used the reinforced concrete pipe will be built on the lot by work relief men.

Matthews Elected Head of Business Men's Association

Central Business Association Goes on Record as Opposed to Several Proposed Taxes and Elects Officers at Annual Meeting Thursday Night.

John W. Matthews, of F. B. Matthews & Company, wholesale grocers of Railroad avenue, was elected president of the Central Business Association at the annual meeting Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A. A full staff of officers and directors was elected and the association went on record as opposing the proposed 2 percent retail sales tax, the grain allotment, and the surtax on motor trucks and increase in the gasoline tax. After an extended discussion the association also voted to cancel all back dues of the members and to suspend the payment of dues during 1933.

The association in addition to electing Mr. Matthews president, elected Ferd Gildersleeve, vice president; Gustav W. Teichler, treasurer; and re-elected M. T. Southard as secretary. The directors elected were C. S. Treadwell, Wesley Gregory, Harry B. Walker, John H. Gregory and Chester A. Miller.

Dr. Morton Low, who has served the association as its president since its formation, refused reelection and nominated Mr. Matthews for the office. All of the officers and directors were elected unanimously. The association has a membership of $9 at the present time. The question of dues was taken up and thoroughly discussed. It was the opinion of those present at the meeting that it would be wise to cancel all back dues and suspend the payment of dues this year. The dues as fixed are $10 a year.

Treasurer William O'Reilly in his annual report stated that the association had a balance of $1,235 on hand, a part of which amount is in bonds held by the association.

The members went on record as opposing the proposed 2 percent retail sales tax and Senator Wicks and Assemblyman Conway will be notified of the action taken. The association went on record as opposed to the grain allotment tax and the state's representatives in the federal government are to be notified of that fact. Similar action was taken on the 65 percent surtax on motor trucks and the proposed increase in the gasoline tax.

The question of holding a meeting and smoker in April was left in the hands of the newly elected officers and directors.

APPROVAL OF FARM PLAN SEEMS LIKELY

Washington, March 31 (AP).—Congressional approval of President Roosevelt's farm relief bill in substantially the same form as it passed the House seemed likely today, despite Senate committee sharpshootings.

Opponents who have sought to marshall an effective attack, expressed the belief today that there was a hopeless fight because of the preponderant Democratic strength in the Senate. They explained that even if they succeed in rewriting the bill in the Senate agriculture committee, it would be restored on the floor of the Senate.

Rockne Killed Two Years Ago. South Bend, Ind., March 31 (AP).—Notre Dame today honored the memory of its immortal viking of football, Knute Rockne. It was two years ago today that Rockne was killed in an airplane crash in Kansas and today the entire university joined in tribute and prayer. Classes for the day were dismissed and the Rev. Charles L. O'Donnell, C. S. C., president of Notre Dame, planned to sing a requiem high mass.

In Police Court Here. Joseph A. Delaney of Poughkeepsie was arrested Thursday on a charge of parking his car in the fire zone on Fair street. His hearing was adjourned to April 4. Adolphus Hymoe of 58 Cedar street, arrested for public intoxication, was fined $5.

EXPECT COMPROMISE ON NEW YORK STATE BEER BILL

Albany, N. Y., March 31 (AP).—What about the beer bill?

The assembly of the New York Legislature, which is controlled by the Republicans, has approved the Dunkel bill which gives the county control of licenses, and it has rejected the Governor Lehman bill which puts license control in the hands of a board named by him. There are not provided for in the Dunkel bill.

The senate, in the hands of the Democrats, has turned thumbs down on the county board control and has approved the Lehman plan in an amended form. Under this measure bars and ralls can be set up.

What will happen? It is expected that a compromise will be reached over the week-end and that a bill, probably providing for county boards and for bars and ralls, will be passed early next week.

Why all the argument? Without county boards counties—and most of them update are Republican controlled—would have no authority over the issuance of licenses. The Democrats favor giving the licensing power to a state board. They have approved the addition of county boards but only with advisory powers.

Battle Over Control Of Beer Flares Anew In Assembly Today

Democratic Minority in Assembly Demands Immediate Vote on Amended Lehman Beer Control Measure.

State Capitol, Albany, N. Y., March 31 (AP).—The legislative battle over beer control flared up anew today when the Democratic minority in the assembly demanded an immediate vote on Governor Lehman's beer control bill, passed by the senate yesterday in an amended form after the original was killed in the lower house. The Republicans promptly blocked the Democratic move.

"We're going to do something about a beer bill if we have to stay in session Saturday and Sunday," declared Minority Leader Irwin W. Steingut of New York. "The newspapers of this state are charging the Democrats with holding up the beer legislation. We can't put up with that."

Speaker Joseph A. McGinnies pounded the gavel hard and threatened to call the sergeant at arms to quiet excited Democrats who jumped to their feet to support Steingut, shouting above the sound of the gavel.

Sounds Beer War Drum.

Steingut sounded the beer war drum the moment the session opened, by asking unanimous consent of the House for a vote on the governor's measure for a state beer licensing board of five members, all to be appointed by the governor at his own discretion under the amendment approved by the Senate yesterday.

Majority Leader Russell G. Dunmore, Oneida, blocked Steingut's motion by an objection.

Steingut persisted in his attempt to break the rivet-tight deadlock between the Democrats, backing the governor's plan, and the Republicans, who are fighting to bring about

Nazis Ready To Deal Death Blow To Jewry In Germany

Berlin, March 31 (AP).—Nazi storm troops today cleared Berlin law courts of Jewish judges and attorneys.

Among those ousted was Chief Justice Kurt Seeling. Reports from the United States that Chancellor Hitler's Nazi party might be persuaded at the last minute to refrain from launching its drastic economic war on the Jews tomorrow seemed only to add fuel to the fire today.

A new proclamation declared the action as the beginning of a war on the entire Jewish race of the world. A party declaration said it will be fought "until victory is ours." The Jews, their backs to the wall as their last appeals for mercy fell on deaf ears, have visualized their financial ruin and ultimate isolation from Germany cities and towns. Such elaborate plans were being made for the beginning at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, on the nationwide boycott on all businesses and professions conducted by Jews, and even Christian Jews, that there was no apparent loop hole left for retreat.

Five women were injured this morning when the Packard car owned and driven by Mrs. George W. Ross of Port Ewen suddenly shot off the road opposite the Steingut farm on Route 9-W, crashed through the wire guard rail and somersaulted down the embankment turning completely over and landing on its four wheels at the foot of the embankment. Riding with Mrs. Ross were Mrs. E. Van Dyke Basten, Mrs. Leon Chambers and Mrs. N. D. J. Murphy, all of Kingston, and Mrs. Rena DeWitt of Saugerties. The party of five were enroute to Poughkeepsie to attend the Girl Scout conference in that city today.

Mrs. Ross is being attended at her home by her husband, who stated that he did not believe her injuries were serious. She was badly bruised about the body and is suffering from shock.

Mrs. Basten has a broken pelvis bone and possible internal injuries. She is in the Kingston Hospital.

Mrs. Chambers was bruised and shocked, but her injuries are not thought to be serious. She is at the Kingston Hospital.

Mrs. DeWitt sustained a broken leg, possible fractured ribs and is bruised and shocked. She is at the Kingston Hospital.

Mrs. Murphy is at the Bonedictine Hospital. She has an injured leg, a slight injury to the skull and injuries to the left side. She is also bruised and suffering from shock, but her injuries are not considered serious. She is under the care of Dr. Mark O'Mara.

Mrs. Basten, Mrs. Chambers and Miss DeWitt are being attended by Dr. Johnston.

Car Shot Off Road. From what could be learned at the scene of the accident Mrs. Ross had just passed another car when her car was seen to suddenly shoot across the road crashing through the heavy wire guard rail, snapping off a concrete post and plunging down the embankment. After the car had crashed through the guard rail it turned completely over and alighted on all four wheels about twenty feet away from the foot of the embankment. The body of the car was a complete wreck.

Injured Women Removed. Word of the accident was telephoned to Kingston and the Kingston police department rushed the ambulance to the scene. The ambulance made two trips removing Mrs. Basten and Miss DeWitt to the Kingston Hospital.

Mrs. Ross was removed to her home in a private car, and Mrs. Chambers and Mrs. Basten had also been removed in private cars by the time the ambulance reached the scene.

Near Sivinsky's Farm. The scene of the accident is a level stretch of concrete pavement almost directly opposite the entrance to the Sivinsky farm on the opposite side of the road.

Did Not Know How It Happened. Mrs. Ross when questioned said that the accident occurred so quickly that she did not know how it happened. All she remembered was that the car suddenly shot across the road and plunged down the embankment.

Mrs. Ross and Johnston. Dr. Ross and Dr. Frank A. Johnston attended the injured women. Dr. Johnston then hurried back to the hospital to administer further aid to the women while Dr. Ross remained at the scene until Miss DeWitt was removed in the ambulance. Miss DeWitt was the last one to be removed and she had been made as comfortable as possible in the wrecked car, lying on the floor of the car and covered over with blankets.

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF PLAN UNDER DISCUSSION

Washington, March 31 (AP).—Emergency unemployment relief and a long-time program to improve labor's lot were up for discussion today in a conference of labor leaders with Miss Frances Perkins, new secretary of labor.

This conference came a day after the Senate gave overwhelming approval to President Roosevelt's second unemployment relief measure, the appropriation of $500,000,000 for direct Federal grants to states for helping their unfortunate.

The bill went to the House for its approval, which is expected Monday.

ARREST MAN WHO ESCAPED WITH 2 OTHERS FROM WALLHILL

Wilkes Barre, Pa., March 31 (AP).—One of three men reported to have escaped from Wallhill prison, near Highland Falls, N. Y., was under arrest here today and police sought his companions as perpetrators of a holdup in which a woman lost $68. John Nelson, one of the fugitives, was picked up on the street last night by a policeman who recognized him from a description broadcast by New York state authorities.

REDEEMER CHURCH HAS QUESTION BOX

The monthly question service of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer will be held Sunday evening. Among the questions to be answered are:

How shall we overcome prejudice between races and nations?
Is obeying wrong?
How can we say, "God is love" when He permits faithful Christians to suffer?
Should Christians believe in insurance?
What does the Bible say about fortune telling?
Why does not the Lutheran church baptize by immersion?
Who is a good church member?
Who was Henry Melchior Muhlenberg?
Is it fair to a child to encourage him to be confirmed before he is fully mature, before he can decide for himself?
Why don't we keep the Sabbath instead of Sunday?
Other questions which may be submitted Sunday will also be answered.

The recently appointed Boy Scout committee of the church announces through its chairman, Samuel J. Mesinger, that Richard Bailey, Jr., has accepted the appointment as scoutmaster to lead the troop to be organized at the church. Boys interested in joining the new troop are urged to confer with Mr. Bailey. For the time being a limited number of boys will be accepted.

As in former years the church altar and chancel will be decorated with Easter lilies presented in memory of loved ones. The lilies should not be sent to the church before Easter Eve, (Saturday before Easter).

Rome (AP)—Mussolini has ordered statues of all Rome's emperors placed along Empire street, the new broad avenue leading from his office to the colosseum. The street already boasts a huge statue of Julius Caesar and four others will be unveiled on April 21, the city's 2,536th birthday.

New French Envoy Knows America

Held Diplomatic Post At Washington In World War Days.

Paris (AP)—Andre Lefebvre de la Boulaye, who leaves April 5 to become the new French ambassador to Washington, is an expert in American affairs and in war debts.

Pennsylvania avenue and the corridors of the state department are familiar sights to this Frenchman. He was a secretary in the Washington embassy 17 years ago when President Roosevelt was assistant secretary of the navy under Woodrow Wilson. The two used to chum around a bit.

Product of the diplomatic training machine that is the Quai d'Orsay, he is an obedient servant of protocol, but this has not robbed him of a warm personal charm and has left him looking much younger than his 57 years.

He is known in Paris as the perfect type of French diplomat: in Washington—as high up as President Roosevelt himself—as a warm friend.

Interesting Stamps For Collectors

Stamp collectors in this city and vicinity will be interested in two recent announcements by the Post Office Department. One announcement relates to the Peace Commemorative stamp which will bear a likeness of the Hasbrouck House, otherwise known as Washington's Headquarters at Newburgh; the other relates to a special cachet to commemorate the first voyage of the S. S. Washington, the sister ship of the S. S. Manhattan, which on May 10 will sail from New York on its first voyage to Cebu, Plymouth, LeHavre and Hamburg, and return.

The Peace Commemorative stamp which the department is preparing will commemorate the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the issuance by General Washington of the official order containing the proclamation of peace, marking officially the ending of hostilities in the war of independence.

The Peace Commemorative stamp will be in the three-cent denomination and will be first placed on sale at the post office in Newburgh on April 15. The stamp will be available for sale at other post offices as soon as production will permit. For the benefit of stamp collectors, the new commemorative stamp will be placed on sale at the Philadelphia Agency, Post Office Department, Washington, D. C., on April 20. The agency will not, however, prepare covers for mailing on that date.

The official description of the Peace Commemorative stamp states that it will be the same size as the regular issue, seventy-five one-hundredths of an inch in dimensions. The stamp is enclosed in a narrow double-line border and is printed in purple ink. At the top of the stamp in a narrow panel with solid background and ornamental ends are the words "U. S. Postage" in white Roman.

Underneath this panel in three lines is the inscription, "Washington's Headquarters Newburgh, N. Y., 1783-1933" in small dark Gothic lettering. The central design is a representation of the Hasbrouck House at Newburgh, which was used as headquarters by General Washington at the time the proclamation was issued. The Hudson River is pictured at the left of the house and in the background are ranges of hills following the course of the river.

In the lower right corner of the central design is a large tree with rocks and plants around the base. In the opposite lower corner is a cannon partly hidden by shrubbery. In front and to the left of the house is a staff bearing a flag representing the first stars and stripes. The large numeral "15" in dark Gothic is enclosed within a shield-shaped panel with light background at the center of the lower edge. On either side of the panel containing the denomination numeral is a ribbon with folded ends bearing the words "Three" at the left and "cents" at the right.

Special Cachet for First Voyage.
To commemorate the first voyage of the S. S. Washington from New York on May 10, a special cachet will be used on letters that comply with the conditions stated below, which are sent under an outer cover prepaid at the domestic postage rate, to the seaport clerk, S. S. Washington, New York, N. Y., to reach him not later than May 8.

Letters addressed for delivery in any foreign country may be sent by this first voyage if fully prepaid at the ordinary letter rate applicable to the foreign country in which they are to be delivered. They may be sent registered if paid the special fee applicable.

Letters addressed for delivery in this country may also be sent by this first voyage. They will be kept on the ship until it has completed its round trip to New York and then will be sent forward from New York by the ordinary means if they are prepaid at the ordinary domestic letter rate. They will be forwarded from New York by air mail if they are prepaid at the domestic air-mail rate. They will be forwarded from New York under registration if paid the additional fee applicable.

for which is usually dispatched via the Pacific coast, and in foreign countries in the Western Hemisphere, will also be kept on the ship until it has completed its round trip to New York. Such letters will be forwarded from New York by air mail if they are prepaid at the air-mail rate.

The rates applicable for dispatch by this first voyage are the same as would be applicable in regular course even though in some cases, for instance in the case of letters for delivery in this country and other places in the Western Hemisphere, the letters because of their unusual dispatch to Europe and return are transported over a longer distance and are given service which is not ordinarily rendered for the postage and air mail fee paid.

If United States stamps are not available to prepay postage on the first voyage covers, a postal money order payable to the postmaster at New York, for the correct amount of postage, should be sent with the covers to the seaport clerk of the S. S. Washington.

Letters addressed for delivery in Europe, Asia, and Africa will be dispatched onward by air from London, France, or Amsterdam if prepaid the additional special air mail fee applicable for such dispatch and if prepared and marked as required in connection therewith.

How I Broke Into The Movies

Copyright by Hal C. Mason

By GRETA GARBO

If you think it is hard to break into motion pictures in America you should try it in my native country. The Swedish government encourages young boys and girls in their theatrical aspirations and endeavors to remove as many obstacles from their path as possible. This, in itself, is an encouragement to the ambitious but, by giving nearly everybody an equal chance, makes the competition even sharper than it is in the United States.

Ever since I can remember I wanted to be an actress and would have quit school at an earlier age to take up theatricals had it not been for the wishes of my parents to see my education completed.

Neither my father nor mother were professional people, but when they saw I was determined to achieve cinematic success, they did all they could to help me.

My first public appearance on the stage was in a spectacular scene in one of the old Swedish plays. I was only one of many young folk who appeared in it for the experience and to observe the technique of the finished artists who headed the cast. By working in such plays with many other young folk, I began to learn the rudiments of technical grace as well as to develop stage presence.

It came to my mind that I might make good on the screen, but since there are so few motion picture studios in Stockholm, I thought I would not really have a chance because so many other girls were applying for film work.

Sweden has a traditional character whose life has been dramatized into "Gosta Berling's Saga," which, in English, means the story of Gosta Berling. I was familiar with the play, so when I heard that Director Mauritz Stiller was to produce it as a picture at the Swedish Film Industry, Inc., I determined to seek a role in the cast. I didn't have much hope of success, but I put on my newest dress and sought an interview with Mr. Stiller.

When I talked with him I was much surprised to learn he had noticed me on the stage. The result of the interview was that I was given one of the three important feminine roles in the picture of which Lars Larson, who is now well known to screen audiences, was the star.

The picture was well received throughout Europe and many critics spoke of it as one of the best ever produced in Sweden, the country which, for some years led the European producing field.

Louis B. Mayer, head of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio in California, happened to see the picture while abroad three years ago, and offered me a contract to come to America and appear in pictures produced at the M-G-M studio. I accepted and have since been with that company.

My only secret of beauty is scrubbing the face with a complexion brush and soap and water. Nothing more exotic than that.

In my country, Sweden, we do not use cold cream so much as in America. It sounds strange to American ears. I know, but a good soap, plenty of water and a small scrubbing brush is the best skin medicine cosmetic.

One of the recent pictures in which I played was "Grand Hotel" with Lionel Barrymore, John Barrymore, Wallace Beery, Joan Crawford and other prominent movie players.

Mae Clark Advances Rapidly
Mae Clark first came into screen prominence with her outstanding performance of a "hit" in "Front Page." She has since greatly enhanced her reputation as a screen actress with such productions as "Fall Guy," "The Public Enemy," "Waterloo Bridge," "Reckless Living," "Frankenstein," and Columbia's "The Good Bad Girl" and "Three Wise Girls."

Hamilton an Old Timer
Hale Hamilton launched his film career many years ago, coming to pictures with a lengthy stage experience as a background. Included among his productions are "Good Intentions," "Common Clay," "Paid," "Murder at Midnight," "Great Lover," "New Adventures of Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford," "Calum Love Song," "The Champ" and Columbia's "Love Affair."

People Taught Juggling
Department is being taught by juggling and balancing feats at Pasadena college in Cheltenham, England. The exercise for girls is to stand on one foot on a pedestal while juggling three balls and balancing two oranges on a plate on the head.

BROADWAY SEES END OF OLD TIME GLORY

Gyps and Fakers Move in on Great White Way.

New York.—Broadway, they say, is faded—through!

Once the fairest, brightest street in all the world of gyps make believe, the thoroughfare is fast losing its individuality in a riot of cheap movie "patrons," fake auction sales, "physical culture parlors," hot dog and orangeade stands, and a hundred and one variations of the thriffling rigger's art run out of Coney Island as too blatantly cheap for further endurance.

Sidewalk fakery abounds on every block. At times the interest of the movie groups they attract is such as to block the passageway and force pedestrians to the roadway. Markers lie in wait in front of by night "fire" and "bankruptcy sacrifice" sale joints ready to pull in the unwary. Little shops, flaunting show window displays of the latest in lady's undies, nestle in between. A shooting gallery adds its clatter to the motley din.

Appeals to the Morans.
Around the corner on Forty-second street a flea circus is sandwiched in between a dime-a-dance "palace" and a high pressure shoe repair shop. Cheap, tawdry, vulgar, rundown at the heels, with no self-respect and "no idea of what self-respect means"—that's the Broadway of today to untold thousands who loved the Broadway of yesterday.

The degeneration of the famous thoroughfare, or rather that midtown stretch of it popularly associated with bright lights and broken hearts, has become the subject of much lamentation by the "dead guard" of the town's citizenry here of late.

Outside the Metropolitan opera house, the Empire theater and one hotel there's hardly a resort of the old Broadway left between Madison square and Fifty-third street—where the ugly "L" straddles across the sidewalk and seems to cut off further progress to the north. The best theaters of the so-called "White Light" district now skulk along the side streets as if ashamed of the street their predecessors made famous. They were driven off by high rents, of course, but the effect is the same.

Many of those now remaining are boarded up—for want of patronage. Others house nondescript movies. On the whole street there is not to be found a single restaurant which old-timers would class with Rector's, Churchill's, Shanley's, the Hofbrau, or Brown's Chop house.

The larger cinema palaces—which currently form the thoroughfare's chief "theatrical" attractions—have been compelled to reduce prices generally to offset the depression and the competition of free medicine shows.

They Still Love It.
There is a tradition that Charles Frohman, walking up Broadway from his office in the Empire one day, noticed a sign proclaiming a new bake shop or some establishment equally unpretentious, and was moved to let out a short of indignation that could be heard a block away. What would the producer, proud of his Broadway, think of the street today, old-timers who knew him often wonder.

And yet there are those who still love the old one-time cow trail for all its shabbiness and lack of spirit.

Those convinced that Broadway is doomed are already casting about for a possible successor to the city's erstwhile "parade street." Some think that Radio City, now growing up along Fifth avenue a few blocks below Central park, may in time get to be the city's new "Gay White Way."

There has been considerable talk of late of the Metropolitan opera, now in dire financial distress, moving to the magic Rockefeller development and trying for a new start, although the opera's "old guard" has a conviction fit every time the suggestion is offered.

If opera should move over—and the development was originally planned with a view to making opera its heart and center—it is believed the best in theaters might follow.

Others think Fifth avenue, which so far has stood adamant against encroachment by the theaters might eventually capitulate and sacrifice some of its dignity to the town's crying need for a new amusement center. Stranger things have happened.

Wherever it is to be, though, the town must have a new land of make-believe. It is written—so say those in the know.

Man Advertises That His Checks Are "Rubber"

Towanda, Pa.—Convinced he was spending too much time in jail on charges of passing "bad" checks, William English decided to reform, and took steps to make the reform lasting. "I want to advertise myself," he said, and requested that the following be printed: "I hereby forbid anyone hereafter cashing any checks for me unless they are government checks. The government checks are O. K. I receive them for fighting for the United States in the World war." His "advertisement" was printed.

Altitude Aneroid Added to Lindbergh Collection

St. Louis, Mo.—The altitude aneroid used in the Spirit of St. Louis by Col. Lindbergh on his solo flight from New York to Paris in 1927, has been added to his collection of trophies here. The addition was made at Col. Lindbergh's request.

Ocean Depth of 6.7 Miles
The deepest sounding ever made in any ocean occurred in 1927, when the German cruiser "Zenden" took measurements about 45 miles east of Mindanao in the Philippines, and established a depth of 35,000 feet or 6.7 statute miles.

Lights of NEW YORK

There has been an effort to revive the X club in New York. This is an organization whose members were drawn from all political parties, the object being to exchange ideas. The members used to meet for dinner about once a month. During the rest of the month they turned over their throats and strained vocal chords. As a result of the limited membership agreed with anyone else, discussion used to lead to argument. Why they called it the X club, I do not know. It might have been that the members asked each other to death, and X marked the spot.

I have of late seen something of the medical profession and heard many interesting and amusing stories. For example, there was a woman, rich, old and crabbed, whose beta were waiting for something to happen to her. Something did. Her doctor diagnosed a clear case of peritonitis, and this was before the liver extract treatment had been discovered. The doctor admitted that he could do nothing and that the old lady had only a few months to live. Apparently, she didn't believe him. Year followed year, and still she survived. Knowing that this was not according to the best medical opinion, the relatives grew restive and even the doctor was considerably annoyed. He felt that he had given his honest professional verdict and that his patient was making a sucker of him.

It was not until the liver treatment was discovered that the doctor realized what was wrong. Having money, the old lady was able to indulge her tastes. It happened that she had a yearning for pate de fois gras. Every day she ate at least one tin or jar of it. The truffles probably did her no good, but the geese liver kept her alive.

A plastic surgeon tells me that he recently has done a fine restoration job on two Armenian women who, before they came to America, were captured by the Kurds and decorated according to tribal custom. A neat design was tattooed on their foreheads, dots were ladlefully inked on their noses, and the tattoo artist did a bit of work on their chins. The plastic surgeon's problem was to remove all these adornments. He finally did it, and claims that the operations will not even leave scars.

When we are told that a country such as Australia has weathered the financial depression and is making swift recovery, and that, after what seemed like a hopeless condition there, unemployment is growing less and taxes actually have been reduced, there appears to be no reason why this rich country, with infinitely more resources, should not make its way out of any slough of despond. And, here, in New York, many profess to believe that we have taken our first steps back to firmer ground.

One trouble would seem to be that this rich and fertile country is so large that each section has its own problems and develops its own point of view. We appear to need a little more co-ordination, a little more teamwork, a little more ability to see the other fellow's angle. No war could be won by an army in which the infantry, artillery, engineers, tank corps, service of supplies and air forces each picked a different objective.

Some camera club might arrange a noteworthy exhibit of photographs of Presidents of the United States taken while fishing. It is hard to remember any Chief Executive, since the early days of photography, who has not had his picture taken with a fishing rod and one or more fish.

A New York family had a good and thrifty cook. Finally she married, but still kept her job. Her husband bought a small car with her savings and started across country as a salesman. For a time she heard from him, but the letters finally ceased. After about a year, she got a divorce. Now she is saving up again.

London.—If a girl told her friends that she was walking out with an agwalla, they might reasonably doubt her sanity. But an agwalla or worker engaged in shipping transport is only one of many queer-sounding professions followed by Londoners.

A bogie-man in London is not something to frighten children with. He is a solid citizen who works in a steel mill or rubber works. Neither is a "cradle-fitter" what one might whimsically think. He is employed in a thimble factory.

A few other entirely respectable professions, all listed in the Blue Book, are shakers-up, chackers, blubbers, thumb-cutters, wet-bursters, tickers, warmers-up, bursters and agwallahs.

Last Day for Filing 2 Moves May Halt Federal Income Tax Death of Mrs. Judd

Washington, March 31.—(AP)—The night tonight is the deadline for all taxpayers to file their 1932 federal income tax returns. That deadline will be passed for the first time since the death of Mrs. Judd, who died last week.

Taxpayers were given additional time from March 17 to March 21 because of the banking emergency. But today the government wants a settlement of at least the first quarter installment and it won't take any more.

Those who postponed paying the first quarter on March 15 must pay interest at 6 per cent on the amount from the date until today.

As a last reminder, the tax is 4 per cent on the first $1,000 of net income and 5 per cent above that. Rates start at $1,000 under the new, higher rates, instead of at $1,000. Deductions also are down. Married persons from $1,500 to $2,500; single $1,500 to $1,000. The 25 per cent deduction on earned income is out.

Despite the higher taxes the returns so far are $13,000,000 under last year.

Word With a Past

The word "mountain" comes from the Italian, "montebanco," meaning "to mount on a bench," and it's from that it derives its present meaning of quack or charlatan. In the old days the fakies would climb on a bench or platform in the open market and proclaim their wares.

Plaid To Her Finger Tips

The Feminist Fashion Movement Grows

New York—The newest version of the light-above costume is the dark skirt with embroidered organdie blouse. The blouse often has puffed sleeves, short, or long ones of the leg of mutton variety, and is trimmed to have a crushed girdle ending in a bow, it seems to bear great promise—this costume type—of comfort and economy, "come" summer.

It is, more or less, the same sort of blouse one wears under one's daytime suit. Even with severe mannish clothes, blouses rarely step out of character. There are shirts, with semi-blouse and cuffs, for those who follow the man-made tailored suit, but it begins to look as though that type of costume would lead a short life and a merry one. There will always be women who wear smart tailors, but they are usually eager for some feminizing touch in blouse or other detail and have no patience with going the whole hog in mannish regalia.

It now develops that the trouser-mance was more or less a flash in the pan and that women refuse to consider wearing them excepting for moments of relaxation on beaches and such. Indeed, it seems quite likely that an ultra-feminine fashion may be the reaction. There is of course no reason why one should not have a suit with trousers and wear as many masculine things as you like, suspenders too, but this does not prevent you from slipping into the most frivolous and feminine finery the next minute.

Some of the mannish worsteds make corking-looking suits and top coats and men's shirtings have always been coveted by the ladies.

If you are going in for tailored clothes, please do not wear sandals and spike-heeled shoes with them. There are business-like-looking oxfords and smart looking ghillies and walking pumps, either in black or tan. These are of course just as much out of place with frilly clothes as dressy shoes are with a tailleur. The same precautions must be taken about gloves. This season one is bound to be greatly intrigued by the novelty gloves shown, some being of the fabric to match the costume.

BACKING UP THE STRAIGHT LINE

Copyright, 1933, by Fairchild.

Made in a ribbed beige woolen the daytime coat illustrates the cost with straight back that may be worn belted or as a sweater type. The back panel and the yoke are in one, the yoke giving a slightly dropped shoulder line. The double collar is of natural lynx.

At The Theatres

Today

Kingston: "Under Cover Man." Swell entertainment with George Raft in his best talkie characterization. This show is intensely exciting from start to finish, and Mr. Raft proves to be a versatile and engaging actor. The story concerns the bond racket, with Mr. Raft up to his ears in trouble most of the time. Nancy Carroll, Lew Cody, Gregory Ratoff and Roscoe Karns are featured in the supporting cast. Adult entertainment that is thoroughly enjoyable.

Orpheum: "Attorney for the Defense" and "Gold." Edmund Lowe is the star of the first attraction, the exciting story of a young attorney implicated in murder. This talkie moves along in whirlwind fashion and is good for an evening of real entertainment. Constance Cummings and Evelyn Brent are also in the cast. "Gold," a western thriller, offers Jack Hoxie in the saddle with Alice Ford contributing the romance. Broadway: "Iron Master" and "Mayday Nights." The first double feature is the story of a laborer who becomes a millionaire. The cast is headed by Reginald Denny and Lila Lee. "Mayday Nights" is a melodrama of the Mayday pearl beds, with a cast that includes Johnny Mack Brown, Dorothy Burgess, Ralph Ince, Raymond Hatton, Carmelita Geraghty, and Lionel Belmore.

Tomorrow
Kingston: "42nd Street." Chalk

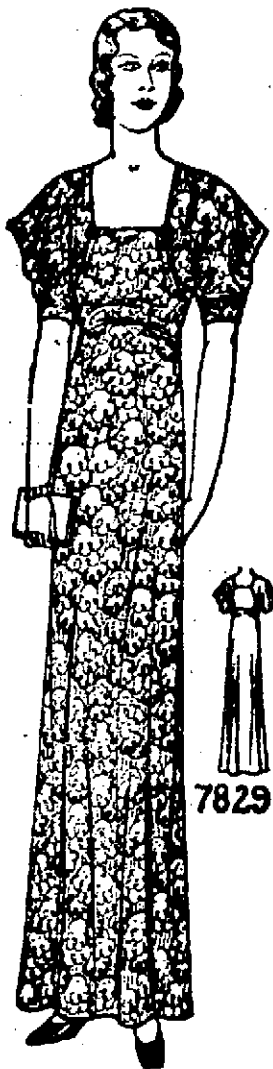

up a personal triumph for Ruby Keeler in this tawny tale of the theatrical district of New York city. This lavish musical comedy is one of the best song and dance pictures ever shown on the screen, and a talented cast, supported by hundreds of extras, all combine to make this drama an outstanding hit. Snappy music and choruses, some excellent scenery and photography, and the work of such recognized stars as Warner Baxter, George Brent, Bob Daniels, Ginger Rogers and Guy Kibbee, all help to put this musical over with a bang. But Ruby Keeler, as the little country girl who heads the cell of Broadway, and who substitutes for a musical comedy star just before the opening curtain, makes good in a big way. Put this one on the don't miss list.

Orpheum: "The Big Broadcast." Grand music, some brilliant comedy moments, plus the addition of radio's most popular stars are all to be found in this novel story of a couple of down and out boys who purchase a radio station, and put on a big broadcast. Bing Crosby, Kate Smith, Burns and Allen, Vincent Lopez, Mills Brothers, Cab Calloway, Arthur Tracey, Boswell Sisters, Lella Hyams, Donald Novis and Stuart Erwin are among the stars who contribute their talents to the picture's success. For popular singing and enjoyable comedy, this talkie offers an evening of rare enjoyment.

Belfast Moves Statues

Statues of famous men, which long have been among the ornaments of Belfast, Ireland, are giving way to progress. Because of the heavy traffic on streets in which they stand, the city is moving them either to quieter places or back to the frontage of buildings.

OUR DAILY PATTERN

A Distinctive Style

7829. Printed silk in green and beige tones was chosen for this pretty model. It has simple lines, and is fitted at waist and hips but in supple effect. The side sections of the waist include the sleeve portions, short and cut with "wing" extensions. One could have this frock in embroidered linen, in beaded prints or in sheer woolen. Crepe is also suggested.

Designed in 6 sizes: 14, 16, 18 and 20 with corresponding bust size 33½, 35, 36½ and 38, also in 40 and 42. Size 18 will require 4 yards of 39 inch material. If cut on the bias 4½ yards will be required. The width at the lower edge with fullness extended is 2½ yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Saugerties Woman Fined. New York, March 30 (Special).—Kate Buhl, arrested January 1 by prohibition agents at "The Maple" west of Saugerties at the junction of Routes 22 and 312, appeared in United States District Court yesterday to answer the charge of violating the prohibition laws. Judge Henry W. Goddard imposed a fine of $25 when the woman pleaded guilty to possessing beer, wine and whiskey.

The Pribilof Islands seal herd, now rated the most valuable in the world, increased 8.24 per cent in numbers the past year.

Beige linen makes this spring ensemble designed by Lucile Parry. The high-necked upper blouse of white linen is attached to the skirt by fastening which is used also as a trimming note on the coat.

Weather "30-Below" Helps Author Write Spine-Chilling Plots

Blowing, freezing north winds that add an eerie background to The Freeman's new serial, "The White Cockatoo," are not a novelty in the life of Mignon G. Eberhart, the author.

Mrs. Eberhart's husband is a civil engineer, and she always goes with him to remote places on construction jobs. She wrote one novel in a veritable shack on the Nebraska prairies, with the temperature often 30 degrees below zero, while driving winds lashed the house with sleet and snow.

"The White Cockatoo" will appear in The Freeman beginning Monday, April 3.

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, March 21—The weekly meeting of the Boy Scouts will be held in the Reformed Church house at 7 o'clock this evening.

Choir rehearsal will be held in the M. E. Church house at 7:30 Saturday evening. All members are urged to be present as music for Palm Sunday and Easter will be rehearsed.

Miss Hazel Lent of Beacon is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Teetsel.

The Rev. M. H. Sharples is attending the New York Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which is being held in New York city.

Rome's Forum—Rome had many forums. The one most familiar is the Forum Romanum, but several of the other great forums of Rome were those of Caesar, Augustus, Vespasian, Trajan, and the Forum of Augustus, which was largely used as a stopping place for pilgrims or others journeying to Rome.

"You hear a lot about these 'foreign debts' declared a Kingston man. But they don't worry me half as much as my own."

Mrs. Robinson was an extremely careful mother, and had repeatedly cautioned her 5-year-old daughter against handling any object that might contain germs. One day the little girl came in and said:

Little Girl—Mother dear, I am never going to play with my kitten any more, because she has germs on her.

Mrs. Robinson—Oh, no, there are no germs on your kitten.

Little Girl—But, Mother dear, I saw them.

One half of the world may not know how the other half lives, but it must be admitted that the women never tire of trying to find out.

Many progressive women are up-to-date in everything, except possibly their birthdays.

Proud Mother—I think Junior becomes more like his father every day. Neighbor—Really? And have you done nothing to prevent it?

The average woman desires to be the one to make a man forget all the other women he knows, then, she proceeds to remind him of them all the time by asking him questions about them.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—Slowly, and on the part of some, rather surely, the new members of the House are venturing out into the open and making the naves heard in debates on the floor of the House.

The debuts of some have been rather amateurish, but a fairly apologetic time was when a new member made a speech on the floor, he prefaced it with a statement that he realized he was new to the congressional way, but that he hoped the members would bear with him for he felt he must express himself.

Most of the newcomers have shown little of that so far. They have jumped in with an air of confidence that they can clear the hurdle with ease.

For example, in the midst of debate the other day one of them arose, addressed the speaker, and without waiting for recognition started for the well of the House.

"For what purpose does the gentleman rise?" asked the speaker. By this time the gentleman was in the well. He turned around to the speaker and, with a look of surprise, replied:

"Why, er—to debate."

And seemed a bit nonplussed when the speaker required him to explain just what he wanted to debate.

Good Delivery

Perhaps the freshman representative who has made one of the best impressions on the House so far is the young, tousled-haired gentleman whose Illinois district takes in territory that Abraham Lincoln once represented.

His name is Everett Dirksen of Pekin, who defeated the veteran William Ed Hull in the last election.

Dirksen, who during his campaign won the sobriquet of "the baker and delivery boy" because of his habit of making deliveries of bread himself from his bakery during rush hours, always gets "a hand" when he speaks.

Laughs Too

He speaks with a deliberate and earnest drawl that is pleasing to hear.

He told five anecdotes in his maiden speech which lasted only four minutes. Each brought howls of laughter.

There is little cockiness about him. He admits that it all is strange to him, that he has a lot to learn, and that he is trying to learn it.

Kiwanis Hears About The Milk Industry

For their own safety and a greater return on their investment, the people of Kingston should patronize their own local milk dealers, is the contention of William E. Mellert, Jr., who addressed members of the Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel Thursday noon relative to the milk situation.

Among guests present at the meeting was Willis Nash of Lonsdaleville, recently appointed conservator of the National Foster County Bank and Trust Company, who addressed the members to the effect that "I will do everything in my power to aid in the best solution to the problem of the bank, and I call upon your support of my efforts." Mr. Nash was given a big hand testifying to the esteem in which he is held.

Other guests were Thomas Goodman, who called attention to a meeting of the new golf club, Thursday evening, and John Reavy, local milk dealer.

Musical numbers on the program were in charge of Paul Zucca, accompanied at the piano by Danny Butner.

Mr. Mellert was introduced by Pearl Carey, chairman of the program committee.

In opening his remarks, the speaker explained the way milk is handled from the time it is obtained until it arrives bottled on the doorstep. "Milk equipment and barns together with the cattle are regularly inspected by city and state inspectors, and the milking machines are sterilized several times daily, so that the customer is assured that he is receiving the safest milk it is possible to produce," explained Mr. Mellert.

Concerning the equipment needed by a milk plant, he said that an abundant supply of fresh water was a necessity, as was a sterilization boiler, bottles, washers, pumps, refrigerators, and other machinery. This, he continued, necessitated a considerable outlay in expense, which the larger dealers had found to be to the best advantage after much experimenting. Other added costs included the purchase and upkeep of trucks; the hiring of competent help, and certain replacements which were necessary as time passed.

"Your local dealer with an interest in the community is not going to give you poor milk. It may cost you more to buy his product, but you may be assured that it is of the best and safest quality, and that in the long run it will be the cheapest," stated Mr. Mellert.

The speaker was firm in his stand against the small outlying competitor and the large organization, which in his opinion did not take the health factor as seriously as the local dealer. The small outlying dealer, he explained, did not have the equipment to properly handle the milk from a safety factor, and the large corporation, he thought, forced the price downward to a point where competition made it necessary for all dealers to sacrifice quality.

In closing he asked Kiwanians to patronize the local dealer and to pay the few cents extra, with the assurance that there was an added safety factor, that the dairy's money would in turn be spent locally, and that a proper standard of wages would be maintained by this action in city and farm.

The speaker answered a number of questions, after which President Howard R. St. John thanked him for his address and the meeting adjourned.

Scandinavians Remain Cool To Hitler's 'Nordic Alliance'

By ELMER W. PETERSON.

Stockholm, (AP).—Reports in the Socialist and Communist press that the German nazis are preparing to launch an extensive propaganda campaign in other countries has brought new attention to the unsympathetic attitude of the Scandinavian nations toward Chancellor Hitler's hopes for a Nordic alliance. Hitler, when he talks of Nordic supremacy in relation to his political ideals, so far has been unable to include the Scandinavian nations as evidence. Despite definite blood and cultural ties, Sweden, Denmark and Norway have offered poor soil for national socialist thought.

Propaganda Flood Awaited.

This state of affairs is regarded by the Socialist and Communist press in Scandinavia as good reason to believe that a deliberate and organized flood of Nazi propaganda would be turned in this direction first.

"A million in Nazi gold to Sweden," warns the Swedish Communist newspaper Folkets Dagblad in claiming information that propaganda plans for Scandinavia have been solemnly agreed upon in Berlin.

The Social-Demokraten, official organ of the new Swedish government, finds significance, in turn, in reports that Minister Goering plans to visit Sweden about Easter time, and that Dr. Birger Furugard, the veteran leader of the Swedish nazis, has had extensive conferences in Berlin.

Hitlerites Grow Sensitive.

That the Hitlerites are getting more and more sensitive to the cool attitude of Nordic Scandinavia is indicated, it is pointed out here, by the promptitude with which unfavorable comment on German affairs has been protested of late.

Criticism of Hitler's election as a "disgrace to Germany" by a Swedish newspaper brought an indignant and threatening telegram from Goering, while an uncompromising utterance by the Swedish prime minister, Per Albin Hansson, was protested recently by the German charge d'affaires in Stockholm.

The Swedish prime minister, leader of the social-democrat party, said recently:

"For one who carries on such a policy as Hitler there will come a day when public bitterness will cast aside the rule of violence, which will be followed, it is possible, by a new one."

The protests have so far brought no official complications. In Sweden and Denmark one result has been increased emphasis by foreign ministers on the freedom of the press.

In Denmark, where the German minister has made several complaints on the matter, the foreign office has announced that the Danish press is now as always free of control by the government, although a "neutral and objective interpretation of events in other countries is as much as possible desired."

After the business session the boys, numbering 18, also the Rev. Robert L. Mauterstock and Sunday School Superintendent Myron Vandemark, enjoyed a pancake and sausage supper. James Sherman, Charles Turner and William Hasbrouck took charge at the beginning and proved good chefs. They were relieved by David Pothemus and Clifford Newkirk in time to get a share of the fast disappearing cakes and sausage. All enjoyed the evening and are counting on more good times to follow.

Mrs. Nies Lundrup had received a letter from her sister, Miss Emily Jackson, from Los Angeles, California, where she is teaching. Describing her experience in the earthquake.

Miss Jackson came through unhurt but witnessed some of the tragic part in the drill given at the special meeting of the Order of the Eastern Star Wednesday night, March 29, in Highland, when the two officials, District Deputy Grand Matron Marguerite

ite Lencke of Kingston, and Assistant Grand Lecturer, Lynn Weasell, made their official visit to the chapter, were Mrs. Frank Elliott, Mrs. Leston DuBois, Mrs. Fred Coulter, Mrs. Peter Harp and Mrs. William Schmalkucke. There were several from Highland also in the drill. Mrs. Charles Johnston was one of the soloists on the musical program. Mrs. Schmalkucke served on the refreshment committee. The regular meeting of the chapter was held on Tuesday evening, March 28. Mrs. Peter Harp, who was celebrating her birthday, was presented with an Eastern Star ring by Mrs. Fred Coulter in behalf of Mrs. Harp's sister, Miss Frances Roosa.

Mrs. Mary Jenkins, who has been visiting her son, Herman Jenkins, and family, is now spending a few weeks with her son, David Jenkins, and family in Jenkintown.

The sermon subject in the Reformed Dutch Church on Sunday morning, March 26, was "Should Jesus Preach the Sermon." Vesper service was held at five o'clock, which was a service of song and meditation. Guests at the service were Perry Borago, violin soloist, and Gilbert Barner, vocal soloist.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 31 (AP)—The stock market closed a little stronger today, but was still extremely listless. Indications of market progress in improving off a recent comparative indifference of general business appeared in a few cases, although improvement evidently had not gone far enough to restore corporate profits to levels sufficient to generate much stock market enthusiasm. The market closed up for a time in the morning under leadership of the sugar and tobacco stocks, but much of the advance was lost in early afternoon. American Tobacco, R. I. and Liggett & Myers, R. I. rose 1 1/2 points, and most of the sugar advanced fractions, while Cuban American preferred pushed up more than 4 points. R. I. encountered some selling. Northern Pacific lost a point, and an early rise of 1 1/2 in Union Pacific was largely cancelled. Wheat stocks firmed for a time, then eased under profit-taking. Miscellaneous industrials, such as American Can, Allied Chemical and C. S. Steel advanced fractions, but utilities sagged. Standard Gas and Public Service of N. J. losing about a point.

The weekly mercantile review of Dun & Bradstreet reported further improvement in both retail and wholesale trade. Reports of improvement from miscellaneous manufacturers are becoming more numerous. Some of the automobile manufacturers reported improved sales in the past week, and a number of miscellaneous manufacturers are stepping up activity, several of them on orders placed in connection with preparations for the beer business.

The action of the sugar again was in response to the improvement in the raw sugar futures market, reflecting Cuban plans to reduce the export quota from the United States.

Indications that most bond issues will be made tomorrow will be made with reassurance. There had been some uncertainty over some of the railroad payments. Total interest and dividend payments slated for April are estimated at more than $500,000,000. Receivership for the E. K. Liggett & Co., a subsidiary of Liggett & Myers, did not come as a shock, in view of the company's warning some time ago to landlords.

Only Oil of Earlier Days
Dipped From Small Pools

The modern method of drilling for oil and bringing it to the surface by means of pumps after the diminishing of the first gas pressure, is a development of the sinking of the famous Drake well in Pennsylvania in 1859. This operation revolutionized oil production methods, but in spite of the discovery of this method of producing oil from the deep-lying oil sands, Germany, for all her inventive genius, failed to make much use of the method until recent years.

In the early days of civilization there was little demand for petroleum and that demand was met simply by dipping the oil from the pools collecting at the outcropping of the oil-bearing sands.

Along about the middle of the Eighteenth century, however, the French made the first serious European effort to obtain oil through mining methods. The practice was to drive a short heading into the outcroppings and permit the oil to drain out into shallow pits. This method was used at Pechelbronn, located in Alsace, which was then French territory.

Subsequent to the draining of the Drake well, well drilling was undertaken in Pechelbronn, but after a time well-boring was dropped until the outbreak of the World War. Germany, hard pressed for oil, began working the Alsace oil sands after the capture of that territory from the French in the early days of the war. The production of oil, however, was expensive and yield small, due to the fact that the sands had been fairly well depleted during the many years of prior, though inefficient operation.—Washington Star.

Starling Like Blackbird, but Has Much Shorter Tail

Starlings are a common sight in the eastern part of the United States where they were first introduced from Europe. They were introduced at about the same time as the English sparrow but have not become as common as the sparrow. The starling may be recognized by the metallic green and purple of their plumage and their long yellowish or ivory bills. At a distance they resemble the common blackbird with the exception that they have a much shorter tail in proportion to the rest of the body than is possessed by the blackbird. They are often considered pests because of their nesting habits, their fondness for ripe fruit and because of their tendency to force other more acceptable birds out of a living around a residence. Starlings live about the streets and parks, building their nests in the nooks and crevices of barns and other buildings in preference to trees. The status of the European starling in regard to economic helpfulness or detriment has not been definitely settled. Some ornithologists give him a clean slate, while others believe he destroys more than he helps.

Break Into Church to Wed
When a bride and bridegroom arrived at the Congressional church in Buckley, North Wales, they found the doors of the church locked and minister and guests waiting outside. Efforts to obtain the keys failed, and after a wait of more than an hour the bridegroom and others burst open a door. The wedding was quickly consummated.

Jesse DuBois died suddenly this morning at his home, 45 Henry street, and although in ill health he came on a distinct shock as everyone. Mr. DuBois was a local

President Roosevelt Signs Forestry Bill

Washington, March 31 (AP)—President Roosevelt today made his forest conservation-employment program law by signing the bill, while his aides rushed to make ready for enrolling thousands from the cities. Jobs for the work.

His directed the department of labor to supervise enrollment of the idle, making plain that he had in mind selection of men who want to work in the metropolitan centers during boom days now to carry out the task of putting the many watersheds of the nation again in condition to produce timber and guard against floods.

This first point of his emergency relief program was authorized late yesterday by Congress. At the request of some of those who sponsor the legislation, he deferred signing of the bill until today.

It is the hope of Mr. Roosevelt to get some men to work within two weeks. By midsummer, he believes, over 200,000 men can be wielding axes and pushing spades in the forests.

The President will go ahead with the plan he had in mind to give the "civilian conservation corps" a pay of $30 a month with food and subsistence.

American Heroines By LOUISE M. COMSTOCK

Nancy Hart
It is unlikely that any novelist would make a heroine of a cross-eyed woman, but history must stick to its facts, and the nation has accordingly named the eighty-mile highway running south through Georgia from Elberton through Augusta and on into Florida the Nancy Hart road and set up along it nine memorial markers in her honor.

Nancy was a heroine of Revolutionary days, a big, raw-boned woman, with muscles of iron and a way with words which inspired local Indians to name a creek near her cabin at Elberton "War Woman Creek." She was a first cousin of Daniel Boone.

Georgia, though far removed from the outstanding battles of the Revolution, was however kept in constant turmoil by the inroads and depredations of the British. One day, when her husband was in the fields, five Tories, out to force the region to allegiance to King George, entered her cabin and demanded dinner. When Nancy protested that they had already made off with everything eatable, one of them shot the lone turkey gobbler scratching in the yard. Nancy kept her wits about her and set the turkey on to cook, taking care to use up all the water in the house in so doing. And when the dinner was done, it seemed but natural that young Sukey Nancy's twelve-year-old daughter should be sent for more water down to the spring, where she could blow the great conch horn to let her father know of their danger.

The five Tories, mollowed by repeated swigs from the jug they had with them and tempted by the savory smell of the food, slacked their arms by the sick and plaster fireplace and sat down to the meal in jovial mood. No sooner had they commenced to eat than Nancy slipped behind them, took up two of the guns and stealthily pushed them outside the cabin through an opening in the logs, to be ready for her husband and his men when they arrived. Just then one of the Tories espied her, and jumped to his feet. But Nancy, seizing a third gun and aiming it, told him to stop. The fire hesitated. It was hard to tell at just which one of them the cross-eyed woman was aiming. Suddenly one man made a move. Nancy shot him dead. Another moved. She wounded him. When her husband finally arrived with help, Nancy still held the other three under cover, and it was at her request that they were afterwards taken out and hanged.

Republican Assembly Passes Budget Bill

State Capitol, Albany, N. Y., March 31 (AP)—Governor Lehman's $212,000,000 budget bill, with appropriations pared down to the lowest figure since 1927 in response to a statewide demand for economy in state government, was passed by the Republican Assembly today and sent to the Senate, where the governor's own party is in control, for concurrence.

Approximately $5,000,000 was trimmed from the Governor's original recommendations after conferences between the Democratic and Republican leaders over a period of nearly two months. Nevertheless, thirty Republicans voted against the budget measure, while the Democratic minority stood solidly for it.

The bill as approved calls for reductions in the salaries of all state employees receiving $2,000 a year or more, ranging from six per cent for those receiving $2,000 to 33 1/3 per cent for those receiving $15,000 a year or more. This was the program of economy recommended by the executive.

Tornado Killed 21 Persons in Three States Thursday

Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas
Struck by Tornadoes. Fatalities
Heavy and Property Damage
More Than 100 Injured

(By The Associated Press)
Tornado winds, accompanied by rain, hail and lightning, killed 21
persons in three states late Thursday.

The twisting terror hit towns and villages in East Texas, Northwestern Louisiana and Southwest Arkansas
and apparently blew out in Northeastern Louisiana.

No accurate estimate of the damage
incurred could be made but reports from crippled communication systems indicated more than 100
were hurt. No large cities were struck.

Devastated communities and stretch
of the storm which swept out of the southwest striking first at Hidalgo, Smith county, on the edge of the East Texas oil field, where two persons were killed.

In swift succession the same
storm, or a series of related disturbances, wreaked havoc at Ma-
hank, San Augustine, Shelbyville
and Huntington in Texas, then struck across northwestern Louisiana, striking at Hall Summit, and dipping into Arkansas, striking at Mount Holly, in the Eldorado vicinity.

Members of a Texas highway engineering crew saw the storm approaching a farming settlement 12
miles south of Center, between Shelbyville and San Augustine. They said it came from the south, "out of nowhere" and missed their automobile by only a few hundred feet,
tearing up trees and scattering
houses like straw before it. It tore
a strip about half a mile wide and
three miles long, toppling houses
before the occupants knew the storm
was upon them.

No report was received from Tennessee where, a negro community,
near San Augustine, and it was feared damage there was severe.

Did Greeks Play Football?

The real origin of football is not definitely determined, but the ancient Greeks had a ball game which resembled football in some respects and the old Romans played a game with an inflated bladder. When the game was first introduced into England there was no limit as to the number of players and the game was played in the open country with the goal posts many miles apart. Several kings of England endeavored to suppress the game on the ground that it interfered with the development of archery, which was regarded as essential for the country's defense.

Far North Is Warning Up

The Gulf stream has warmed the Arctic ocean enormously in recent years. The Arctic ocean is believed to have been ice-free, between 600 A. D.
and 1100 A. D. It was during this period that the Norsemen are supposed to have discovered America and found its northeastern coast so warm that grape vines grew there, and for that reason called it Vineland. The fact that Greenland, now covered with an enormous depth of ice, was once a luxuriant forest during prehistoric ages,
is indicated by plant fossils in the rocks.

Wood for Fuel

Although wood is generally worth
about 60 per cent as much as coal of equal weight in heating value, a cord
of seasoned hickory is equal to a ton
of average coal. Other woods of high
heating value are white oak, hard maple,
beech, elm, hackberry and ash.
Dogwood is very desirable for use in open fireplaces on account of its attractive blue flame, states Purdue university foresters.

Split wood has a lower moisture content and therefore a higher heating
value.—Prairie Farmer.

Arrest of President

In theory the President cannot be legally arrested for any crime whatever, even for murder, and his person
is inviolable during his term of office.
He might be arrested by mistake or he
might submit voluntarily to arrest;
otherwise, the only course is impeachment and removal from office by congress, after which he could be arrested
like any other private citizen.

Lives in Perpetual Daylight

The Arctic tern travels from one end of the earth to the other. Its annual migration covers 11,000 miles. Part of the time they are living beyond
the Arctic circle where the day lasts
for six months. After this they fly
to the Antarctic regions to experience
another long day. The only darkness
they encounter is in their migrations
over the tropical regions.

Baker Knows His Bread

A St. Joseph (Mo.) baker knows his bread. He placed a loaf in the mail to be delivered by parcel post. A few minutes later he received a telephone call that the bread lacked sufficient postage. The next morning he went to the post office and asked to have the loaf weighed, and the postage was found sufficient. During the night the bread had dried out.

Mercantile Bowlers Hold Dinner at Y

Some Seventy-five Enjoyed Steak Dinner—Palmer Canfield Was Guest Speaker of the Evening.
Officers Were Elected and Prizes Awarded.

Thursday evening at the Y. M. C.
A. the bowlers of the Mercantile League held their annual banquet at which Palmer Canfield, former mayor of Kingston, was the guest speaker. Following the speakers,
prizes were awarded to the winning
teams and individual high scorers.

Carl Foster, physical director at the Y, acting as toastmaster, introduced Clarence Rowland, president of the Y. M. C. A., who spoke of his appreciation for the hearty cooperation on the part of the bowlers
throughout the winter and on his conclusion congratulated the winners. C. S. Schoonmaker, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was introduced.
Mr. Schoonmaker complimented the officers and extended his congratulations.

Then Toastmaster Foster presented Palmer Canfield, who began
reminiscing of the days, years back,
when he was president of the Y. M.
C. A. for five years and of the struggle at the time of whether to continue the institution because of a failure in a money campaign which brought about the impossibility of taking care of a large debt accumulated by the Y Theatre. They were hard days and he said, "I'm sure it
is running smoother and stronger
than ever."

He also gave a brief history of bowling. In concluding Mr. Canfield added a bit of a cheer-up talk to those who were defeated by saying that the latter's part was just as important as the winners.

Toastmaster Foster introduced former President Ken Williams and also newly elected President William Mellert. Ken Van Etten, who was again elected secretary, also was called upon the mat for his description of the championship match between the Silk Mills and Trust Company.

Jack Spill played the piano
throughout the banquet and also for the singing which Clarence Schoonmaker led.

Rosenberg Calls Hebrews Practice

Sammy Rosenberg, newly installed
director of the Hebrew-American basketball team, which tonight tangled with the Morgan Repealers, one
of Kingston's outstanding quintets,
has called a practice for Monday
evening at the Downtown Jewish Community Center. The drill will start at 8 o'clock and is scheduled for the purpose of whipping the Hebrews into better shape for proposed
contests with the Port Ewen Aces,
recent conquerors of the Kingston Stars in a series of three games, and
with Pete Brack's All Stars of Stone Ridge, regarded as the semi-pro
champs of Ulster county.

American League Pennant Prospects

By ALAN GOULD.

Associated Press Sports Editor.

New York, March 31 (AP).—Six
rival clubs have resorted to extraordinary measures and the seventh
has changed hands completely, all in a common purpose to break up the latest monopoly of the New York Yankees, but it remains to be shown whether singly or collectively they can stop the world champions from capturing their eighth American League pennant this season. The betting is they won't.

Since 1921, the only clubs successful in dislodging Babe Ruth &
Co. from the top have been the Washington Senators and Philadelphia Athletics. Once more it appears likely these two clubs, especially the Senators, will furnish the principal challenge to Yankee supremacy, despite the fact that all four of the western clubs led by Cleveland and Detroit, are considerably strengthened and confident of making more than a perfunctory
pennant gesture.

Hope for Better Balance.

Around the circuit presided over
by the scholarly Mr. William Har-ridge of Chicago, the hope has grown that the 1933 race will be better balanced and that the Yankees will not benefit from all the
"breaks" credited to them last season. It seems much more of a hope
than a conviction, for the Yankees
are buttressed by more combined experience, power and pitching than any other entry.

The New York pitching, on paper,
looks no more effective than that of
either the Athletics or Senators, who traded off the great right arm of Firro Marberry and the southpaw
cunning of Lloyd Brown in exchange
for two of the league's foremost batters, Walter Stewart and Earl Whitehill. The Yankee slugging
may at times be no more pronounced
than the fence-busting of the A's or
the Cleveland Indians. The champions' defense seems no more air-
tight than that of the Detroit Tigers,
St. Louis Browns or Senators.

But from the top to bottom of their batting order, the Yankees are a tough outfit to match, let alone
conquer. It may be true they rely on a number of ancient performers, including Sewell, Combs and the eminent Ruth, but it is equally true Manager Joe McCarthy has some of the finest young reserve strength in either league. At least a half dozen prospective Yankee bench-warmer
would be regulars on a majority of other clubs.

Senators Look Good

Washington, with Goose Goslin
back in his old slugging haunts and
a four-star twirling staff consisting of Crowder, Weaver, Whitehill and Stewart, figures to be very much in the pennant race. But the Senators reserve strength is questionable and Joe Cronin's ability to handle the triple responsibilities of shortstop,
slugger and manager must be proved.
Bucky Harris, then a young second
baseman, pulled one of baseball's
"miracles" with Washington nine years ago but this lightning seldom
strikes twice in the same place.

Last year, Washington was the only club able to hold the Yankees
even on the season's series but it is a fact that throughout the rest of the league the champions are likely to strike much more terror and awe in-
to the opposition than the Senators.

Other Topnotchers

The Athletics, Tigers and Indians,
all featuring the development of youthful new stars, should be in the thick of the scramble for first division places. The A's have a brand new outfield, with no real replacement for Al Simmons's big punch in slight, but Connie Mack relies upon a comeback by his pitching staff, especially George Earnshaw, to keep the club in the race. No team featuring the exploits of stars like Grove, Fox
and Cochrane can be treated lightly.
Cleveland expects much more consistent pitching, plus the development of such new talent as infielders Harley Boss and Bill Knickerbocker,

to sustain the team's upward progress. Bucky Harris, too, looks for striking results with his Tigers,
grown more formidable through the acquisition of Marberry, a pitching
workhorse, plus the development of a recruit, "Schoolboy" Rowe, sensational hurler from Texas. Infielder Marvin Owen and Outfielder Ervin Fox.

Despite drastic changes, the St.
Louis Browns, Chicago White Sox
and Boston Red Sox, still look very much like the rear guard, in that or-
der. The Browns, swapping wholesale with Washington, have a fine defensive outfit but lack a decisive
punch. The White Sox unquestion-ably are much better equipped, with Simmons, Dykes and Haas in the lineup, but it is doubtful if their increased power will offset pitching
weakness. The Red Sox, making no outstanding changes since Tom Yaw-
key and Eddie Collins took control
face a long, uphill battle for talent
and subsequent recapture of any of their old prestige.

Z. N. P. Quintet Defeats P. N. A.

In the feature basketball game at White Eagle Hall Thursday the Z.
N. P. Seniors outscored the P. N. A.
of Poughkeepsie 40-36, Randy Kiefer and Bill Kennoch leading the attack of the winners with 13 and 11 points respectively. F. Dykos of the visiting quintet was highest individual scorer of the contest. He made 19. The Z. N. P. boys were in the van through, leading 18-13 at half time.

The girls' preliminary resulted in a 36-16 victory for Fullers over St.
Mary's. B. Smedes and Sally Gage
caged the ball for 16 points apiece
for the victors. J. Long made 6 for the losers.

The Maruvian Marvels overcame
the Z. N. P. Juniors 37-35 by a concentrated scoring attack in the second half after trailing the Polish
boys at the intermission. Tataraski and W. Neer were the leading scorers.

quests all his players to be on hand
early. Weather permitting, the P. N.
A. will open its season on April 30
or May 7 against a formidable team

umpire all home games of the P. N.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

There are some extenuating circumstances to be taken into account,
but it nevertheless is striking that
the close of the indoor track and field season finds the new kings of the athletic boards coming, not from
the ranks of our Olympic champions,
but from the larger galaxy that failed for one reason or another to figure among the collectors of gold medals at either Palo Alto or Los Angeles.

Pole vault—Keith Brown, Yale
sophomore and holder of the new world indoor record of 4 feet, 1 1/4
inches, did no better than a tie for seventh in the final Olympic trials
and failed to make the U. S. team.
The same goes for his teammate,
Wirt Thompson, who cleared 14 feet
in his last indoor meet.

High Jump—George Spitz, a disappointment in the Olympics although a point winner, won the national indoor title with a leap of 6 feet, 8 1/2 inches, a trifle short of his own world record.

1000 Yards—Glenn Cunningham, a fourth in the Olympic 1,500 meter
final and the first American, at that,
ran his best race, 4:12, to clinch indoor laurels, and, despite Gene Venkze as the board-track king,
Sprints—Ralph Metcalfe, beaten
in both Olympic finals, and Emmett Toppino, who made only the Olympic relay team, shared honors.
All-around—Barney Berlinger, in retirement during the Olympic year,
staged a great come-back to beat Jim Bausch, Olympic decathlon champion and record-holder, in an abbreviated indoor test.

Barney Comes Back.

From the way Berlinger performed in the "septathlon" at Nadi-
on Square Garden on the night Bausch was forced to withdraw with a knee injury, the former University of Pennsylvania all-around star is
about ripe for the best decathlon
showing of his career.

Big Barney seems faster than ever,
which is not to say he will give Bill Carr anything to worry about in the quarter mile. He also has improved in the jumps and still can hoist his huge frame over almost unbelievable heights in the pole vault. He clears 13-feet, 4 inches.

Outdoors Bausch would be able to cash in at his favorite events, the
shotput, discus and javelin throws,
but Berlinger's unexpected comeback offers him a chance for some real decathlon competition. It would provide a spectacular duel if these two can be brought together in the Penn Relay Carnival the end of April.

Vaulting Monopoly.

Speaking of pole vaulting, there's still no break in the old monopoly.
If it isn't a Southern Californian on top, like Lee Barnes or Bill Graber,
you are pretty sure to find the Yale
boys up there in the athletic strato-
sphere.
Keith Brown, assisted by Wirt
Thompson and Frank Pierce, is keeping the Eli reputation up where it belongs. When he displaced the indoor record Brown merely inserted
his name where that of another Yale
product, Sabin Carr had been.
Of the nine athletes in the world
credited with soaring over 14 feet
with the bamboo pole, four are Yale
boys—Carr (the first anywhere to clear this height), Sturdy, Brown
and Thompson. The others are:
Bill Graber of Southern California,
present world record holder at 14
feet, 4 1/4 inches; Lee Barnes, former Southern Californian, and former world record-holder; Bill Miller
of Stanford, Olympic champion;
Charley Hoff of Norway, now a professional; and Shunpei Nishida of Japan, Olympic runner-up.

Olympics Defeat Battery A.
The Olympics closed their season
by defeating Battery A of the 156
Newark, threw Thy Roebuck, 24.
Thursday, 23-25. Cooper, with 11
points did the heaviest scoring for the winners. Spitzer made 16 for Battery A.

SPEAKER AT W-E CLUB

At the regular meeting of the W-E Catholic Club on Monday, March 27, Matthew V. Cahill, prominent local attorney and Grand Knight of Kingston Council No. 272, Knights of Columbus, was the guest speaker. Mr. Cahill chose as his topic, "The Experiences of a Young Attorney," and began his speech with a very humorous account of his first case. Mr. Cahill stated that it was his fortune to be cast into a field of the law unfamiliar to the general public, namely that of abstracting titles in deeds and other matters of the most interesting experiences and most unusual cases in this field. Mr. Cahill's talk was received most attentively by the club members who showed their appreciation by giving him a rising vote of thanks.

Mr. Cahill was accompanied to the club by Allen A. Baker, P. G. K. of the Knights of Columbus, who was also called upon to speak. Mr. Baker spoke briefly on the charitable activities of the Knights of Columbus and stressed the importance of their work at the present time.

Following the speeches refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Flashes of Life
Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Philadelphia, March 31 (AP).—For 13 years, Mrs. Terence Moorey believed her sister perished on the S. S. Lusitania, a victim of submarine warfare. She almost fainted from the shock of seeing the sister, Mrs. Mary Thompson, standing in her doorway.

Mrs. Thompson said a fever she wrote saying she had cancelled her passage on the ill-fated ship at the last minute must have miscarried. Later, employed as a travelling companion, she lost track of her sister.

"What," exclaimed the warden, "is this Monte Carlo or the state prison?"

A search for cards and other devices used in gambling was begun.

Tosses For Father Marquette.

"Oh yeah!" said she. Whereupon, she calmly walked over and pushed a burglar alarm button.

Police pumped four shots into the robber before he captured him. His companion escaped with $600.

The Trout Season
In the Mountains

Shokan, March 30—Well, it won't be long now, as one local sportsman was heard to remark, apropos of the opening of the trout season. Saturday, April 1, is the big day and hundreds of Isaac Walton are getting their fishing gear in shape for a day of real sport along the mountain streams. There is still a lot of snow in the Catskills and the brooks are running fast but the boys are all set to go despite the unfavorable conditions. Although it is generally agreed that the opening date is too early for good fishing in this latitude, the same old crowd of enthusiasts invariably yield to the irresistible urge to be up and doing early on the morning of the first Saturday in April. I try for successful catches are made thus early in the spring, yet your real fisherman will not be denied his initial try at the grand old sport—not for love or money.

Much snow still remaining in the southern Catskills is going to make for cold water in the tributaries of the Esopus for some weeks to come. The peaks of Wittenberg Range for instance, are sure to exert a chilling effect upon the Bushkill and Traver Hollow, the two best trout brooks in the town of Olive, while these streams are bound to be high when the melting snow starts on its way to the Esopus. Tice-Tenock and adjacent peaks are bare, however, due to their southerly exposure, and this condition may make for better fishing in the Back Brook and the Butterkill, on the east side of the reservoir. Still, the Back and "Olive" are not what they used to be and there is no use in getting all excited over the prospects for filling a creel from either of these streams. The reservoir, then, remains the one best bet of the early bird, providing he can find the worms, which are said to be mighty scarce in local breeding grounds.

Anyhow, there is excitement in the air which is not confined to local sportsmen alone. The open season annually brings hundreds of men to Olive and other towns in the lower Catskills, and these visiting fishermen bring, even in depression years, a sizeable amount of money in the aggregate to storekeepers, filling station proprietors, refreshment stand people and lodging house keepers. The boys from afar may not take away many trout but they are bound to leave quite a lot of marmalade; therefore, all hail! Undoubtedly there is going to be a lot of husky big brown trout and peppy little brook trout caught here in April by the wise guys who know enough not to go too far back in the hills for their sport at the commencement of the season. For, it stands to reason that the farther up the line you go the more snow you'll strike and the colder the water. Smart Mr. Trout starts under the big rock and keeps warm under such conditions; it takes a mighty tempting piece of bait to lure him to a strike, and the chances are that even then he will change his mind and postpone eating until he can do so more comfortably. The moral is, if any, to try your luck on the sunny side of the Catskills thereby getting rid of that long pent-up urge at a minimum outlay of gas, time and patience. If a man must fish early, let it be as near to home and the fish markets as possible, saith the philosopher, Selah.

Truck License
Extension Given

Albany, N. Y., March 31 (AP).—Although tomorrow is April 1, New York state truck owners will still be permitted to use their 1932 license plates under a bill that became law yesterday with Governor Lehman's signature.

With the prospect that the legislature will repeal the 65 per cent truck surtax which was to have become effective tomorrow, the governor signed the Kernan bill delaying until April 10 the date the tax goes into effect. By that date Senator John J. Buckley, chairman of the tax committee, hopes to have the tax withdrawn.
